GREAT American and Foreign Office,

FOR

Securing Patents for Inventions.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS WITH THE U. S. PATENT OFFICE, WASHINGTON.

R. H. EDDY,

No. 76 State Street, opposite Kilby St.,

BOSTON

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS.—The subscriber, Agent for the U.S Patent Office under the Act of 1837, continues to present advantages in applying for patents, superior to those offered to others by most agents, made arrangements, generally on application from personal or professional acquaintance with inventors, and making an examination of the principles involved in the case, without charge. Inventors who are unacquainted with the manner of proceeding before the Patent Office, can be furnished with the Rules and Regulations, and the Laws governing the same, by addressing the subscriber, and enclosing one dollar, (instead of twenty as is usually charged by others) which will be remitted by him on receipt of letter to obtain a patent and the instructions, through him within thirty days after the application.

This Agency is entirely new in this country, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by any, for reasonably superior to those offered by others elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND SKILL, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, afford full accounts of patents granted in the various States and Europe, rendering him at the special solicitation, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents

Caveats Specifications, Assignments, or Drafts, Papers and Drawings necessary to the procurement of patents, in the shortest time, carefully and advice rendered on legal and mechanical matters respecting inventions and infringements of patents. All necessary of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are hereby saved to inventors.

Copies of the claims of any patent furnished for one dollar Assignments procured at Washington Patents secured in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries, through agents of the highest respectability

R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents,

TESTIMONIAL.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. EDDY, Esq., of Boston, was employed in the Patent Office as Solicitor for obtaining Patents. There were few, if any, opponent acting in the capacity, who had so high business before the Patent Office and the Courts, and whose skill was exercised with more ability, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the most experienced and able solicitors of Patents & Inventions in the United States, and have no hesitation in entrusting to him any business which may require a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting the application in a form to secure each of them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

Late Commissioner of Patents."

[From the present Deputy Commissioner.]

"Washington, D. C., 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the office of Commissioner of Patents (1, 11, 1849 to 1853) business has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the Office as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the duties required of applicants before the Office, I regard him as one of the most experienced and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. Late Commissioner of Patents."

Wilbor's Compound of Pure Cod Liver Oil and Lime,

A CURE FOR CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, GENERAL DEBILITY, AND ALL SCROFULOUS HUMORS

TESTIMONIAL.

☞ Let all read the following, which is but one of the many testimonials being constantly received

The Wilbor Manufactory have long in the course of a long and extensive practice that the seeds of consumption are by no means confined to those arising from a few well marked causes, but that in very many cases a scrofulous taint, inherited from parents, is sufficient to develop sufficient to induce consumption when a slight disease. Thus in fever, influenza, colds and inflammatory affections those lymphatic glands of the human frame, the lungs, being perhaps the most frequently and most severely acted upon, in consequence, are made to be the principal sufferers, and the healing process which is almost than the right as generally understood, is rendered impossible. Consumption consists of nothing more than a scrofulous state of the lungs, in the manner of scrofulous sores upon the skin, and the cure is to be effected in the same manner, by healing and re-organization. It is thus that Cod Liver Oil, when prepared in a manner to render it perfectly sweet and tasteless, and at the same time to preserve its medicinal properties, is found to be the most valuable remedy for consumption that has ever been discovered, and it is upon this principle that Wilbor's Compound of Cod Liver Oil and Lime is prepared. I feel confident that I have found the most valuable remedy for the above complaints ever before discovered, and after having tested it in my own practice, and that of many others, in the most severe cases, I do not hesitate to recommend it to the public as a remedy which will prove effectual in curing the most confirmed consumption, when taken according to the directions. I have also found the most valuable remedy for the above complaints ever before discovered, and after having tested it in my own practice, and that of many others, in the most severe cases, I do not hesitate to recommend it to the public as a remedy which will prove effectual in curing the most confirmed consumption, when taken according to the directions. I have also found the most valuable remedy for the above complaints ever before discovered, and after having tested it in my own practice, and that of many others, in the most severe cases, I do not hesitate to recommend it to the public as a remedy which will prove effectual in curing the most confirmed consumption, when taken according to the directions.

The People of the United States, without regard to past political differences or divisions, who are opposed to the repeal of the Missouri Compromise, to the policy of the present Administration in the extension of Slavery into the Territories, in favor of the admission of Kansas as a Free State, and of restoring the Action of the Federal Government to the principles of Washington and Jefferson, are invited by the National Committee appointed by the Pittsburg Convention on the 22d of February, 1856, to send from each State three delegates from every Congressional District, and six Delegates at large, to meet at PHILADELPHIA on the Seventeenth day of June next, for the purpose of recommending candidates, to be supported for the offices of President and Vice President of the United States.

Washington, March 29, 1856

We publish to-day the notice of the National Committee of those opposed to the policy of the present Administration, for a National Convention to be held at Philadelphia on the 17th day of June next for the purpose of recommending candidates to be supported for the offices of President and Vice President of the United States. The basis of the Convention is broad and liberal enough to include all who are opposed to the repeal of the Missouri Compromise, and who wish to restore the action of the Government to the principles of Washington and of Jefferson. This is the basis of the Republican party and of the American party, and upon this basis all should unite their action, and make it effective in the election of a President who will not bend all the forces of the general Government to the extension of slavery over the Territory. The basis is a national and not a sectional one, and by carrying out its principles in the election of President, sectionalism will be driven from our national politics, and quietness and peace reign throughout the land.

The present administration has gone on from bad to worse, disappointing its friends and turning its back on its avowed principles, and the best thing it can do is to vacate for the inauguration of better men, and wiser and safer policy and foreign and national principles. It has gone into the extreme of sectionalism in favor of slavery and claimed more for it than it was willing to allow to freedom. Is it not time, then, for the people, without regard to past political differences, to come together and determine that freedom is national and slavery sectional?

Upon the call issued by the national Committee the Republican party in all the States will invite all to unite with them in the selection of delegates to the Nominating Convention.

Purpose of the Coalition.

The dominant party in the State administration have introduced a series of extreme measures calculated to excite the entire people of the State in an unwonted degree. Their object is to stir up every possible element among the people to the highest point of intensification in order if possible to cause the Republican party in a heat of phrenzy to commit some indiscretion in their movements, and thus enable the coalition of numbers and pro-slavery men of all stripes to get up false issues in order to blink the real issue before the country, opposition to the ex ension of slavery. The Republican party will not, we are quite sure, allow their real issue to be lost sight of, even while they condemn as condemn they must, the outrages against the judiciary, the removal of restraint on the liquor business, and the destructive partizan course of the present State administration.

The intent and purpose of the political leaders is to stir up every drag of partizan passion, to infuse into the political canvass personal hatred, and to cause the political pot to boil in raging foam. They may gratify themselves in this, in their struggle of life or death, but the calm and earnest purpose of the people of Maine is, to be led into no false issue, but persistently to go forward with the protest against the Kansas iniquity, and try the National administration upon that ground.

It has been suggested in some quarters that the course pursued by the majority in the Legislature against Judge Davis, would well be met in making him the candidate of the Republicans for Governor. The Republicans will see that Judge Davis shall be fully and appropriately vindicated in a mode altogether better than by making him Governor of the State.

The action of the coalition has sealed its doom, and it now only remains for the Republicans to act with prudence, and discretion in all their movements and Maine is certain to place the administration of the State in safe and reliable hands, and to give her electoral vote for the presidency to the Anti-Nebraska candidate.

PUBE CANDY. Samuel E. Perkins, on Kenduskeag Bridge, has received from Franklin County, a large quantity of delicious Maple Candy, manufactured from pure maple molasses. It is much superior to the common article.

We have before us a copy of the Kansas Daily Tribune, published at Topeka. It is a spicy little sheet, and we notice the name of a former citizen of Bangor, Mr. J. L. Roundy, who is engaged in the sale of furniture, &c.

WHY is a bee hive like a decayed potato? Because a bee hive is a bee holden, and a beehive is a spoil dieter.

Hon. Cor[illegible] Meets.

Intelligence received from this distracted country shows that the government troops have secured a success over the insurgents. A engagement has taken place between the forces of [illegible] government, and the insurgent forces of Pa[illegible] in which the latter suffered much in killed, wounded, with the destruction of their armament and munitions, while the former gained possession of the city. Ha[illegible] being left shut up with one-half of the forces [illegible] had previously raised there. It is also stated that Hero had sought a truce from the rebels Compton, with terms, however, which were rejected, he being required to surrender at discretion, with the sole promise of [illegible] life.

It is stated that Ha[illegible] was confined in the plaza, and the Regular troops and streets leading to it that the drinkable w[illegible] had been thinned off from him, and that h[illegible] rope were commencing to feel the scarcity of that commodity, that the Government forces were firing on the place all day, except four hours allowed for the pacifically inclined to submit, and once every hour during the night, that the Government force was receiving constant aid from the inhabitants of the [illegible] recent places, and being otherwise strengthened, and finally, that the bells from their prayers were effecting great destruction and consternation among the insurgents. Hav[illegible] said a second time to have made propositions, which were rejected.

INTERESTING PICTURE FOR CONGRESS.—The Philadelphia papers state that Mr. Buchanan, the American Minister, has sent home from London an original portrait of John Hampden, the celebrated English patriot, who was one of the first to resist the encroachments of the Stuarts, and to assail the prerogatives of the Crown in the great struggle for popular rights which led to the establishment of the English Commonwealth. This portrait belonged to Mr John Macgregor, member of Parliament for Glasgow, and is presented by him, through Mr Buchanan, to the Congress of the United States. It is said to be one of the only two original portraits of Hampden now in existence.

A correspondent in Mount Pleasant, Iowa, advises all his eastern friends who are determined, even without his advice to remove to Iowa, to examine the advantages of the Des Moines River. Many improvements are being made in the valley of the river, by the erection of dams, building of Railroads &c., under the direction of a corporation. He would recommended an examination of the advantages on the Penobscot River as every way satisfactory to reasonable men.

A friend has sent us a letter from Minnesota. It contains an advertised list of sixty long columns of delinquent taxes in one county, and the lands were to be sold on the second day of April, too late for us to be present, even if we wished to purchase. The holders of the lands there do not be on the look out for they may slip from their grasp.

MOVEMENTS OF THE SLAVERY EXTENSIONISTS. The Washington correspondent of the Charleston (S. C.) Mercury communicates the following, which shows how intensely the slavery extensionists are going to victory in Kansas:

Immediately upon my arrival, I made the acquaintance of Gen. Whitfield, and a special men, indeed the [illegible] of a Southern man. Would that he were the type of the whole South! My conversations with him [illegible] been of a most interesting nature. He says that there are over two thousand slaves already in Kansas, and that the Southern party are now, and have always been, in the majority. But that the Abolitionists are plotting [illegible] upon them, and will soon overpower them, unless the South acts promptly and energetically. The latter I asked him particularly in what form aid was needed, and his reply was: "Young and enterprising Southern men." Missouri, said he has done nobly for Kansas. She has given money by thousands, and her sons are ready for the struggle. But she cannot hold out against the entire No th.

When Elect Kansas, the hopes of Southern men in Kansas and Missouri were sinking, and every letter I receive adds fresh proof of this. They feel that they are battling not for themselves only, but for the South; and that while the North remains silent to hoist or crush them, the South looks coldly and indifferently on. They see that the last election [illegible] that the North is intent upon [illegible], and that we will be forced to yield up Kansas to Abolition, if deserted by the South. When I told him of the efforts made in Charleston and throughout South Carolina in behalf of Kansas, he expressed himself most warmly. "Tell them," he went on to say, to press on, for, if Kansas becomes a free State, Abolition will triumph in Missouri in three years. It will sweep Arkansas, and what next it is not hard to conceive. The South can save Kansas by timely aid and activity. she must save it if her future course is to be the past. See what the North is doing. Have you read the news from Yale College, where the very Professors have subscribed money to the cause of Abolitionism in Kansas? Yet time is the college to which Southern youth are sent to imbibe their principles and education. Say for me, that Kansas is lost without the aid of the South, and implore the people of South Carolina not to fail us in such a cause."

Resolved, That when the people act in their original sovereign capacity in forming new systems of government, they are not bound of conform to any rules or forms of proceeding not instituted by themselves.

The above resolution was introduced in a meeting in Concord, New Hampshire, in 1842, by one Franklin Pierce now President of the United States. It had reference at that time, to the Dorr Rebellion in Rhode Island. It applies now with marked pertinency to the abused citizens of Kansas, whom the President is engaged in trying to crush because they have to act in their original sovereign capacity in forming a new system of government. The President now thinks that they have no right to form rules and forms of proceeding most instituted by themselves. He insists that they shall form a State government, such as they themselves wish and as they themselves [illegible] decide, but regarding to an Administration programme lately introduced in the U. S. Senate by Stephen Arnold Douglas. How long will the American people coolly endure these outrages?—Kan. Journal.

VIRGINIA FINANCES.—The Richmond Whig expresses a fear that the State is on the eve of bankruptcy. It says:

"With a debt of thirty millions, with taxes doubled, with population starving in the fields, we hope the people will begin to think that there is something of more moment to their well-being than the distribution of offices among hungry politicians."

AUGUSTA, Friday noon. Yesterday, he was very much exhausted from previous severe labors at Boston and Washington, and having also taken a cold, he is now suffering from an attack of influenza, and will not probably be able to speak before Monday. His physician, Dr. [illegible], has just informed me that he does not deem it prudent for him to attempt it before that time. The hearing in the case of Judge Davis has been postponed until to-morrow, and will then probably be opened by Mr. Paine.

The Liquor Bill was forced through under the gag of the previous question, moved by Mr Lyman of Portland. By the rules of the present very "liberal" and fair" Legislature, no reasons are allowed to be given "why the previous question should not be put," as was formerly allowed, so that the gag is absolute. There were about ten members of the majority who could not be dragooned by the secret caucus into voting for the passage of the bill.

COL. FREMONT AND THE PRESIDENCY.—In reference to the probability of the opposition uniting upon this distinguished Californian for the Presidency, the San Francisco Journal says:

"Col John C Fremont is likely to be the ca date of the opposition. He is known to possess the elements of popularity to a larger extent perhaps than any other American now living. His life of restless daring, of unselfish service in the cause of the country, in making known her vast resources, and in developing her great wealth, would render him stronger before the people, probably, than any man before the country. Aware of his inherent strength some of the more sagacious of the Democratic party were desirous of making him their nominee. But he was found to be so inflexibly opposed to the whole Nebraska business that he was dropped by them like a hot potato, and it is not unlikely that he will be the candidate on whom will centre the whole anti Nebraska vote—enough to election, and have some hundreds of thousands to spare.

The Republicans throughout the country are as little moved by sidesire to promote the success of any man, in connection with their movement as any party ever was. Few decided preferences have been expressed, and no feeling of attachment has been exhibited for any one which can affect the movement itself in the slightest degree. Everything for the cause, nothing for men" is emphatically indicative of their sentiments. Any sound, firm, prudent man, from whatever quarter of the nation he may hail, who may be thought likely to concentrate the most strength, will be supported with an alacrity and heartiness equal to that which would be exerted in favor of any other. But it is still enough to make public allusion to candidates that the judgment of the party may be as fully ascertained as possible. And for ourselves, while, if our own vote would make a President, we should not cast it for the gentlemen whose name heads this article, yet we have in casting our eyes over the field, for some time been impressed with the idea that no man would bring more strength to our cause than that of the gallant patriot, John C. Fremont. He is a man of the people, grown up great and strong under American institutions by the exercise of his own individual energy and capacities, a man who has carved his own way to fortune and to fame, who discovered and opened up our Pacific empire, and by his achievements in science, arts and arms, has shed imperishable lustre on the American name, whose open chivalrous character and conduct commend him to the hearts of the American people. If, as we believe his sentiments shall be found fully reflecting the general tone of the Republican party, we suggest whether his eminent abilities, his great achievements, his unspotted reputation, his history and his standing would not bring more strength to our ticket, and do more to assure the success of our cause than the name and influence of any other man.

Judge Butler of South Carolina, declared in the Senate, on Thursday last, that he would go out of the Union rather than submit to an interdiction of the right claimed for Southern gentlemen to carry their slaves into the public territories. The Union of Saturday parodies the declaration, under its editorial head with great delight. Such language from Seward or Hale would be abolition treason. From the quarter from which it now comes, it is merely a manly outburst of lofty chivalry. These southerners, who crack their whips on their plantations wish to crack them occasionally in Congress. They feel towards the North as one friend in the song felt towards his foe:

Things have come to a very fine pass
When a man cannot walk p his own jackals.

LORD NELSON AND LORD NORBURY.—It was once our lot to hear a celebrated barrister of the King's Court, who had been a short time before, horse whipped at the foot of Nelson's Pillar, in Sackville street, so savagely as to be carried home bleeding with the severity of the punishment, cross examine a man who had indicted another for an assault.

"Pray, sir," said the counsel with the usual barristerial insolence, "you were well beaten, were you not?"

"Yes, sir, said the man, "quite as well as you were at the foot of Nelson's Pillar."

The counsel turned pale with rage and mortification, and turning to Lord Norbury, said:

"My Lord, said he, "I appeal for protection of the Court against this impertinence."

"The Court," said Lord Norbury, "can never refuse its protection to any one who has died under the immortal Nelson."

It was Cobbett who said (and he told the truth too) that "women are never so amiable as when they are useful, and as for beauty though men may fall in love with girls at play, there is nothing to make them stand to their love like seeing them at work."

"Bob you say that you believe most diseases are contagious? How long have you entertained such notions?" Ever since I sat alongside of a blue eyed girl and caught the palpitation of the heart.

Of the many and almost incredible stories of the severity of the weather this winter, a man who lives near Cleavland, Ohio, tells the best. He says it was so cold one morning that he had to drive his cow into the kitchen and thaw out her bag before he could milk her.

LEGISLATURE OF MAINE.

WEDNESDAY, April 2

SENATE.—Mr Farley from the joint special committee appointed to consider and report the order of proceedings for the hearing of Judge Davis made a report:

1st, For the purpose of granting a joint hearing agreeably to the vote of the two branches, they will meet in Convention in the Hall of the House on Friday.

2d, The President of the Senate shall preside in the Convention.

3d, The respondent may be heard by himself and the counsel, if he shall so desire.

4th Any affidavits or written statements may be read as a part of the defense, and only such testimony shall be admitted.

5th, No debate whatever shall be admitted in the Convention.

6th, No motion shall be submitted or entertained except to take a recess to a time certain or to dissolve the convention and every motion shall be decided without debate.

Finally passed.—Resolve in favor of Abiel McAlister. Resolve in aid of a road across the Indian Township in Washington Co., resolve in favor of the committee on the State Reform School. Resolve in abatement of State valuation of Arrowsic.

House.—Bill to organize and discipline the Militia came up by assignment, the question being upon the Senate amendments which were adopted in concurrence and the bill read a third time.

The question was then taken and the bill passed to be engrossed, yeas 73 nays 54.

Report of Joint Select Committee to which was referred the subject of making arrangements for the hearings of Woodbury Davis came from the Senate accepted.

Mr Morse supposed that by the acceptance of to report the rules there contained would be accepted in and adopted. He was opposed to the acceptance. In the first place he thought this Hall was not large enough to accommodate persons desiring to witness this proceeding.

In the next place in accordance to the rule there is to be no debate or any motions. This is to be a joint Convention. The House has as yet had no will in the matter. Now we, propose to shut out ourselves from all power in the consideration. Generally the members of both branches in convention have a right to be heard. Suppose it were proposed to delay, to submit other testimony or something of that sort the convention would be obliged under the rule to dissolve and act upon the proposition separately.

Mr M stated that the students of Bowdoin College had manifested the intention to come up en masse to attend the hearing and that they ought to be accommodated. He would move to lay on the table the 1st rule by striking out "Hall of Representatives" as the place for the hearing, and authorize the officers of the Legislature to procure Winthrop Hall for that purpose.

Mr Levensaler did not deem it advisable to remove from our usual place of business for any purpose. It seemed to him that we should act upon business coming before us in the Halls of Legislation. As for the other point, with regard to making motions, this was a hearing only. If motions were allowed we should hear nothing for as many days as members chose to make motions. This would be an exparte proceeding. We allow the defendant to put in what he pleases in writing his defense. We allow him to proceed to any length of argument. We do not propose to disturb or cheapen him, and there is therefore no necessity for the allowance of debate and motions. It is better for the defendant therefore that the rules [illegible] reported should be adopted.

Mr Morse was not aware that this defense was to be mere written speech. He supposed that testimony oral or written should be allowed. It ought to be [illegible]. It was difficult for Judge Davis otherwise to establish the fact that he was compelled to decide in that matter one way or the other. It was too late to call upon him to put in affidavits. He should be allowed the privilege of putting in what testimony he sees fit. It would be but ogerous injustice not to allow the privilege of the simple introduction of testimony upon which the Judge's defense was to be based.

Mr Fessenden should be an open one, not to be [illegible] upon conviction. If this is to be a Star Chamber trial it is not but little consequence what rules you adopt. If you intend to act fairly, it is of great importance that the member from Thomaston supposes might enable a member to raise objections at any occasion delay, it was true that may be done but he had no fear of that. Mr M called attention to the question before the House, namely the amendment of the first rule, and further supported his views.

The gentleman from Lubec says this is not a trial—it is not an impeachment. This is one of the primary difficulties in the case. Here is a man, labouring under no physical disability, perfectly competent, guilty of no crime. He is charged only with taking a different view of the constitution from your Governor. He has not compromised the seal of the Executive as above the constitution and the laws, and there fore is to be beheaded. Is this democracy? Is this worship of Executive power the character istic of the people?

Judge D. has looked over the constitution, and comes to a conclusion that he cannot recognize the power of the Governor, and you therefore propose to remove him.

"The trial is to come, says the gentleman What kind of a trial will that be when the majority of this legislature, after having caucused for weeks upon his subject, and at last screwed their courage up to this point, will proceed to decide upon this removal? It is a mere partisan measure.

The gentleman says Judge D. is to have "a hearing." What is a hearing. What is its full import in the constitution? Is seemed to him that if a man is to be heard in his defence, he must also be admitted to put in whatever he can in his defence.

Mr Barker was in favor of the motion of the gentlemen from Bath. The fifty-two thousand Republicans in this State have a right to witness this hearing. He continued in opposition to the rule cutting off debate.

Mr Chase also spoke briefly in favor of the amendment.

The amendment was then rejected—yeas 62, nays 82.

Mr. Foster of East Machias moved the previous question.

Mr Morse was opposed to putting the previous question.

Mr Foster replied. He remembered when the proposition was up before, how gentlemen left the hall, and prevented the presence of a quorum.

Mr Wedgewood desired to present an amendment.

Messrs. Wedgewood, Foster, Howes and Barker, entered into a lively debate.

Mr Barker evinced a desire to present an amendment by which the hearing should be had in the Agricultural Room, where Judge Davis had already had his trial.

The main question was then ordered, yeas 79, nays 64.

The report was accepted in concurrence.

On motion of Mr Wood, of Oldtown, bill to incorporate the Oldtown Manufacturing Company was taken up, amended, and passed to be engrossed in concurrence.

Bill for the assessment and regulation of the sale of intoxicating liquors, &c., was taken up, and many of the Senate amendments were adopted in concurrence.

The amendments proposed in Section 8, were, on motion of Mr. Bennett, passed over for the present.

Upon the question of concurring with the Senate in striking out the 18th, 19th and 20th sections, Mr Wedgewood moved the yeas and nays, and they were ordered.

The question was then taken, and the House refused to concur in amendment. Yeas 69, nays 69.

Mr. Sammon moved to reconsider.

Mr. Irish proceeded to address the House in favor of reconsideration.

Mr Dennett, of Mittery, would merely remark that these sections were carefully drawn, were old in operation, and contained nothing but what was well guarded.

Mr. Irish called the attention of his venerable friend and the House to the 30th line of the 3d Section where it was provided that a Justice of the Peace might have jurisdiction irrespective of the value of the property. When this could not be said to be carefully guarded or drawn. There was a constitutional objection to this provision.

Mr Wedgewood rejoined.

On motion of Mr Talbot the yeas and nays were ordered.

Mr Morse said these sections were not open to objection on the ground of severity. It was necessary under them to describe the vessels in which the liquor is deposited and the liquor itself. It was necessary to designate and describe the person who kept it. He did not believe anything could be done under them as they now read. They were certainly drawn with great care, for great care was taken to draw them in such a way that nothing could be effected.

The gentleman from Union seemed to advocate the principle that "intemperance being a great evil, consequently we should have liquor in every where.

Mr Wedgewood explained that the right of trial by jury was not taken away, consequently there existed no constitutional objection.

Mr Sweetser of Bucksport, followed, quoting from the opinions already had before the upper branch by Hon. Lot M Morrill.

Mr Sammon then addressed the House, and was followed by Mr Sargent of Sedgwick.—

The question was then taken by yeas and nays, and the House voted to reconsider.

Yeas—73, nays—70.

The House then concurred with the Senate, and the sections were struck out.

The remainder of the amendments were adopted.

Sec 6 was then taken up and the House refused to concur in Senate amendment, striking out "may" and inserting "shall."

Pending the discussion of an amendment proposed by Mr Dennett, the bill &c were laid upon the table.

The Conference.

The 10th meeting of the plenipotentiaries was held on Tuesday the 18th, and the Prussian representatives took their seats.

The meeting was to take place on Thursday the 20th. It was rumored that peace would be signed on Saturday the 22d, or on Monday the 24th. Indeed business of the Conference was understood to be over, and a committee of the plenipotentiaries of each power is engaged in drawing up the formal treaty of peace. The committee consists of M. De Bourgueney, Lord Cowley, Count Buol, Baron Brunow, Count Walewski and Ali Pacha.

The Imperial foundry at Estorig, on the left bank of the Don, has been closed, and this would seem to confirm the news of the intention manifested by the court of Russia, to abandon all its maritime establishments on the Black Sea.

Fortifications at Nicolaieff were being strengthened.

On the 17th all the ships and allied batteries at Constantinople fired a salute, in honor of the birth of Napoleon's son."

Great Britain.

Mr. Buchanan has introduced his successor, Mr. Dallas, to the Diplomatic, and on Monday Mr. Buchanan transferred to him the charge of the Legation.

Mr. Buchanan has gone to Paris, whence he will return in a few days, and will probably remain at home by the steamer leaving Liverpool on the 10th or 20th of April.

The Prince Frederick William of Prussia is to wed the English in May, as the acknowledged suitor of Queen Victoria's eldest daughter, Princess Royal. According to the Brussels papers, the young man solemnly demanded of the king, his uncle, the consent in due form to the projected alliance, and the consent was readily granted, in presence of the whole court.

There is a report from the Crimea that two divisions of the army, the highland 3d or 4th Guards under Sir Colin Campbell will immediately proceed to Canada.

France.

The Empress and her child continue well, and the Tuileries has been ordered with all splendor for receptions. The Emperor's replies have generally been purely complimentary to those addressing the deputation of the Conseil, he made use of the expression, "I am happy that Providence has sent me soon at the moment when an era of general reconciliation is announced itself to Europe." These words are looked upon in Paris as sort of confirmation of the general belief in peace.

WASHINGTON, April 4.

SENATE. The House bill appropriating $360,000 for restoring and maintaining Indian tribes on the Pacific coast, and $120,000 for gunpowder passed.

Mr. Collamer resumed his remarks on Kansas affairs and contended that the Missourians were into the territory to control the elections, fearing that the Free State men would triumph unless they interposed. He believed that 5000 illegal votes were cast, and that the inhabitants were driven from the polls, not being permitted to vote in some districts. As to the allegation of the Missouri Compromise he thought it rather hard that the North, having made all sacrifices which they were not very well satisfied with, but which they were content to abide by for the sake of good faith, should not be entitled to the advantage they deemed fit. He assumed gentlemen were familiar with the history of the Vicar of Wakefield and how Moses traded his horse for spectacles with shagreen cases. He supposed the Vicar proud of this bargain, he had never heard that the horse was using up his horse, had come by his green spectacles again. La

Mr Douglass replied to some of Mr. Collamer's criticisms on the majority report, claiming that the purpose of the law in Kansas was to restore the peace. Their application as a State government. They had given notice that unless admitted they would resist to the last and for the purpose of preparing for such resistance they had purchased rifles and organized the Kansas militia for horrible oaths. Yet the Senator from Vermont omitted all these facts in his speech. In the course of his remarks Douglass said it was a remarkable fact that an intimation that an election was to be held in Kansas on the 30th of March, communicated to Boston, through the agents of the Aid Society. This he contended showed that there was a private understanding between them, the agents, and Gov. Reeder, that the election by sending voters from Massachusetts, consequently these facts refuted the charge of invasion by the Missourians.

Monday.

HOUSE.—The Senate's amendments to the Deficiency bill were taken up in Committee of the Whole.

Mr. Smith of Tenn., argued that Kansas is more conservative than the North, because secession of Slave States has strengthened the Union. He spoke of party politics, reviewing with severity the Republican and American organizations.

Mr. Granger prompted, as he said, by a sense of duty, discussed the slavery question, arguing that slavery is incompatible with the constitution of the United States and positively bars its existence.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 8, 1856.

Messrs. C. & J. Marshall—Gentlemen: At the request of your Agent in Baltimore, in regard to our opinion and experience of your copper-coated spikes, we, without hesitation, say we believe them the best substitute for copper yet introduced, and better fastening for ships, inasmuch as you have the strength of iron with the preservative qualities of copper.

We have used some of your Spikes in old vessels as a substitute for copper, and have had occasion to draw them out a year afterwards, and found them with the coating as firm as when they were driven, and with no appearance of oxidation.

Very respectfully yours,
(Signed) JOHN D. PARDY & BRO.

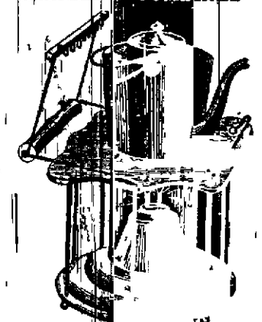
ARNOLD'S COMBINED



FOOT-STOVE, LANTERN, AND NURSE-LAMP.

ALBERT NOYES having purchased the exclusive right for manufacturing and vending in Penobscot county, the above valuable invention is now prepared to offer them to the public

As a FOOT-STOVE it answers its excellent purpose, as it can be sufficiently heated in less than one minute to warm and dry the feet in the coldest winter weather, and will be found to be an indispensable article in travel ng. It is heated by an oil alcohol or fluid lamp the flame of which is protected from any external object

As a LANTERN, it answers all the usual purposes, and is less likely to be over-set or get broken and can be used as a house lamp with equal advantage

As a NURSE LAMP, and in cases of sickness it is of great advantage in keeping drinks or medicines warm, being of the right degree, and for cooking in small quantities. For making tea it will be found very convenient, as a quart of water can be boiled in fifteen minutes, and a tea pot brought to the same length of time

In fact, the various purposes to which this neat apparatus can be put may be readily conjectured by every one No further description is required as no one can misunderstand its general utility to say one thing more respecting its adaptability for a hundred purposes would just be telling what it readers can all spread over for themselves

From Rev Jesse Hoyt, Lewiston Falls

Lewiston Falls, Feb 9, 1854.

Rev Walter Clark, Dear Sir,—It is certainly true that I used one bottle of your Universal Cough Mixture in my family which all pronounce to be the best medicine they have ever taken for the cure of several physicians with whom I obtained the relief I have ever received from any medicine I have used in the whole course of my life. One bottle of which I speak was sufficient to cure a child which I had given over to die, and which in my opinion would have died in three days if it had not been for the use of your Mixture
